WEBINAR ON INSURANCE

Strategizing & Planning for Insurance Industry.

As part of our endeavor to equip the larger audience about what to expect during and after COVID, we continue to gather feedback from industry professionals to decide on the topics for our webinar. The popular vote for our next webinar was to focus what to expect during the pandemic and how to plan for the post pandemic world in the insurance industry. In this webinar, industry experts will :

- Share their experience and trends they foresee across insurance providers globally.
- Provide a framework of different scenarios that the insurance providers will encounter in the new normal and strategies to exploit opportunities & mitigate risks.
- We will present a live product demonstration of how insurance providers can plan & implement business processes that will ensure resilience and immunity in the post-pandemic world.

TOGETHER WE WILL OVERCOME

Human Resilience at its Best

Human resilience and agility has never before been put to such extreme test like it is now. The human and economic cost due to the pandemic has been humongous. However, the pandemic has brought the world, communities and individuals together to fight a common cause. Countries and businesses have stood tall in the face of adversities striving to restore normalcy in the world. It is upon every individual to contribute their bit in restoring normalcy and making the world a better place to live in.

Scanomi recognizes this responsibility and continues to help companies and individuals emerge stronger and resilient from the pandemic. Together we can!
